

Search Airport Parking Launches Web Site to Help Travelers

BRIDGEWATER, N.J., Nov. 1, 2010 (PRESS RELEASE) -- Search Airport Parking announced this week that SearchAirportParking.com was launched in September 2010 as a resource for travelers and airport parking operators. The site includes a directory of the top airports in the United States and Canada with on-airport parking, off-airport parking, transportation and other information for each airport.

The airport directory currently includes 18 airports and information on over 100 airport parking facilities. Airports and parking locations are added weekly with Toronto Pearson (YYZ) and Boston Logan (BOS) as the latest additions. Customers can even recommend an airport or parking facility to Search Airport Parking for addition to the directory.

Search Airport Parking's philosophy is that travelers tend to do a lot of research on their destinations, but are not prepared for their departure airport. SearchAirportParking.com includes information on airport transportation, terminals, directions, on-airport parking, and off-airport parking all in one place so the traveler can be just as prepared for arriving at their departure airport as they are when they get to their destination.

Search Airport Parking also offers services to the airport parking professional. For parking operators, Search Airport Parking can setup Featured Listings, which are customized pages with their specific parking information that are linked to the airport directory. Reservation forms can also be setup so parking operators can get customer reservations in their email inbox.

About Search Airport Parking

In 2010, SearchAirportParking.com was founded to provide a resource for travelers and parking operators. The site includes an airport directory that pulls together information on airport transportation, terminals, directions, on-airport parking, and off-airport parking into one place so travelers are just as prepared when they get to the departure airport as they are when they arrive at their destination. Search Airport Parking offers advertising, reservations, and sponsor listing options to parking operators.
